Pushover Logos and Usage

We've put together some various sizes of our logo to show off your Pushover integration. Please download and host these logos on your own websites and documentation rather than hotlinking directly to these files on our site.

You are permitted to use the Pushover logo in the following ways:

- ✓ Use the Pushover logo to link to the Pushover website (https://pushover.net (https://pushover.net/))
- ✓ Use the Pushover logo to advertise that your product, service, or project has built-in Pushover integration
- ✓ Use the Pushover logo in a blog post or news article about Pushover

You are not permitted to use the Pushover logo in these ways:

- X Use the Pushover logo for your application's icon
- X Create a modified version of the Pushover logo
- X Integrate the Pushover logo into your logo
- X Use or sell any Pushover artwork without permission
- X Change the colors, dimensions or add your own text/images

For libraries that encompass our API (/api) in a particular programming language, you are permitted to use the Pushover name in your project name (e.g., "php-pushover") as long as you make it clear in your documentation and source code that the library is not written or supported by Pushover. All references to our product or service should be written as Pushover with a capital "P", all one word (not "Push over" or "PushOver").

For any other services or applications, you are not permitted to use the Pushover name in your software's name.

If you have any questions regarding the use of the Pushover logo or name, please contact us (/support) before use to avoid any complications.
